When he was a Boy.

From the New York Observer.
Promotes of his birth, or at least of his childhood, we give the following. In an article on "The Historic Buildings of America," in the Potter's American Monthly for June, Dr. Lossing tells a delightful anecdote, introducing us to the early boyhood of Washington and his friend, Richard Henry Lee. The anecdote is told in connection with an account of Stratford House, the family seat of the Lee family, and is as follows:

"It (Stratford House) is only a mile from the birthplace of Washington, and stood in the midst of a highly cultivated country, dotted with the mansions of people who formed a very refined society. There Washington and Richard Henry Lee undoubtedly often played together, and within that mile between the dwellings was the scene of the following correspondence when they were boys only nine years old, there being only a few weeks' difference between their ages. Little Lee wrote:

"I have brought me two pretty books full of pictures he got them in Alexandria they have pictures of dogs and cats and tigers and elephants and ever so many pretty things cousin bids me send you one of them it has a picture of an elephant and a little Indian boy on his back like uncle Joe's sam pa says if I learn my tasks good he will let uncle Joe bring me to see you will you ask your ma to let you come to see me."

"Richard Henry Lee."
"To this note little Washington replied: 'DEAR DICKY—I thank you very much for the pretty picture book you gave me. Sam asked me to show him the pictures and I showed him all the pictures in it, and I read to him how the tame Elephant took care of the master's little boy, and put him on his back and would not let anybody touch his master's son. I can read three or four pages sometimes without missing a word. Ma says I may go to see you and stay all day with you if it be Uncle Ben will go with me and pony Hero. I have a little piece of poetry about the picture book you gave me but I mustn't tell you who wrote the poetry:'

"G. W.'s compliments to R. H. L., And likes his book full well, Henceforth will count his friend, And hopes many happy days he may spend."

"Your good friend,"
"GEORGE WASHINGTON."
"The 'poetry' was written, it is said, by Mr. Howard, a gentleman who used to visit at the house of Mrs. Washington."

Who Wrote "Damon and Pythias"? This is the question, writes a Chicago critic, which has been asked by some forty odd correspondents within the past two weeks, but we have refrained from answering it, partly because we thought these persons were trying to fool us, and partly because we did not know. This last admission the dramatic editor makes with a certain degree of quiet satisfaction, knowing that he has been in the same box with a good many people who ought to know better.

He found that out of fifty tolerably well-posted men in literary matters not one could lay his finger on the name of that illustrious obscure playwright. Such a well-known play! no author to it. Everybody speaks a reflective than at your head and says, "Why, of course I know who wrote that," and then ends up, like the second grade digger, by the remark:—"By the mass I cannot tell." Alas! what is fame?

Here is a play which has been on the stage for more than seventy years, and only a book worm can tell you who wrote it. Now who wrote "Damon and Pythias"? Give it up? His humble name was John Banim of Ireland, "who," says the introduction to the acting edition, "became celebrated by a series of novels under the title of 'The O'Hara Tales.'"

The famous Irish orator, Shiel, revised the play, and may have suggested it to be produced. The author acknowledges the assistance he received from Shiel, saying that his alterations and arrangements pervaded it, some scenes being entirely his.

The piece was first produced at Drury Lane, London, with Macready as Damon and Charles Kemble as Pythias, Miss Foote, who played Heronism, speaking the epilogue. It was first produced in America at the Park Theatre, N. Y., in 1846, with Forrest as Damon and Dyott as Pythias.

MEDICAL.
TAKE
SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR
For all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

WILL CURE
DYSPEPSIA.
I MUST OWN that your Simmons' Liver Regulator fully deserves the popularity it has attained. As a family medicine it has no equal. It cured my wife of a malady I had counted incurable—that wretchedness of our American people, Dyspepsia.
A. E. P. ALBERT,
Professor in Nicholas Public School, Parish of Terrebonne, La.

MALARIAL FEVERS.
You are at liberty to use my name in praise of your Regulator as prepared by you, and recommend it to every one as the best preventive for Fever and Ague in the world. I plant in southwestern Georgia, near Albany, Georgia, and must say that it has done more good on my plantation among my negroes than any medicine I ever used. It suppresses malarial fever in time.
Your cordial friend,
Hon. B. H. HILL, Ga.

CHILDREN'S YOUR REGULATOR is superior to any other remedy for Malarial Diseases among children, and it has a large sale in this section of Georgia.—(W. M. Russell, Albany, Ga.)

TESTIMONY OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF GEORGIA.—I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always, when according to the directions, with decided benefit. I think it is a good medicine for the derangement of the liver—at least such has been my personal experience in the use of it.
HIRAM WARNER,
Chief Justice of Georgia.

SICK HEADACHE.
EDITORIAL.—We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Turbidity Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. We have tried forty other remedies before Simmons' Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved but cured us.—(Editor Telegraph and Messenger, Macon, Ga.)

COLIC AND CRURBS IN HORSES.
Having had during the last twenty years of my life to attend to Racing Stock, and having had so much trouble with them with Colic, Grubbs, &c., gave me a great deal of trouble. Having heard of your Regulator as a cure for the above diseases, I concluded to try it. After trying one package of your Regulator, I found it in every instance. It is only to be tried to prove what I have said from Augustus, Clinton and Macon, as to the cure of horses.
